

LATE RETURNS BOOST COOLIDGE LEAD

BLAINE IS LEADING LUECK BY 51,000 350 Electoral

Predict Bob's Majority Will Exceed 100,000

Entire G. O. P. State Ticket Swept Into Office by La Follette Landslide But Blaine Trails Rest of Ticket—Ekern Has Largest Majority in Incomplete Returns

Milwaukee—With 60 per cent of the precincts in the state tabulated, Senator LaFollette continued Wednesday to pile up his lead over President Coolidge. The senator's total, in 1595 precincts out of a total of 2,679 in the state, has reached 259,276, the Coolidge vote in the same precincts is 184,791 while Davis received 40,543 votes. This gives LaFollette a lead of nearly 65,000 over the president. If the same ratio of vote is continued through the last one thousand precincts in the state, political leaders pointed out Wednesday, the margin of the senator will approximate 110,000 votes.

Governor Blaine and the entire Republican state ticket, on the face of returns, has been swept into office with the LaFollette landslide, though the governor's plurality will be smaller than that of any of the other members of his ticket, the incomplete totals would indicate. Blaine, in 448 precincts out of 2,679, has received a total of 213,717 votes, to 162,450 for Lueck, and 10,864 for Quick, Socialist. This gives the governor a lead of 51,267, and will leave him an ultimate margin over his Democratic opponent of 90,000 to 100,000 votes, his headquarters claim.

Approximately one-fifth of the precincts have reported on the balance of the state ticket, and these returns indicate that the Republican candidates will win by majorities varying from 150,000 in the case of Huber, up to 250,000 in the case of Attorney General Ekern.

Ekern is running ahead of the balance of the ticket in the incomplete returns, and political leaders estimate he will receive as high a vote as Senator LaFollette himself.

Milwaukee—In 450 out of 2,679 precincts in the state, Fred Zimmerman, Republican, was leading his Democratic opponent, Callahan, by approximately 50,000 votes. The count stood: Zimmerman 72,560; Callahan 22,614; Fenske 517; Needham 312.

At the same time Solomon Levitan, Republican candidate for reelection, had a lead of nearly 48,000 over Charles O'Neill, Democrat. The count stood in 428 precincts reported at 10:30 A. M.: Levitan 68,125; O'Neill 21,535; Engdahl 497; Grandall 331.

In the race for the attorney generalship, Herman Ekern, Republican incumbent, was running ahead of his Democratic opponent by a like majority, the count in 475 precincts showing the vote for Ekern 68,533; Simpson, Democrat 19,632; Hess 439; Mott 270.

Mathis, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, ran well ahead of the general Democratic ticket, the total at 10:30, hour showing him trailing Huber, the Republican candidate by 27,000 votes. In 444 precincts out of 2,679 Huber had 52,557; Mathis 25,533; Gilles 2,201, and Nelson 265. The showing made by Mathis was one of the surprises of the election. The totals mentioned above do not include those of Milwaukee co.

Lueck ran far ahead of the remainder of the Democratic ticket. He polled 193,184 votes in the 1,144 precincts reporting, while Blaine had a total of 135,158 in the same districts. The other Democratic candidates trailed the head of the ticket by many thousands and were so far behind that there appeared small chance of changing the results to any extent Governor Blaine, despite his big lead over Lueck, was knifed by many Republicans, the returns showed. He had opposition from the Socialist party to fight, which was not the case in the LaFollette run. Lueck ran 51,000 ahead of Davis, national ticket leader, and was ahead of the presidential candidate in practically every precinct in the state which had reported LaFollette's support was general throughout the state, the first congressional ticket alone running strongly Coolidge. The president's main strength lay in Rock, Waushara and other counties in that district.

Milwaukee where the strong Socialist element backed LaFollette, the senator made a runaway race of the contest, piling up a commanding lead in his home county of Dane also polled heavy vote for him.

G. O. P. MAJORITY IN CONGRESS IS STILL UNDECIDED

Nine Democratic and Ten Republican Senators Relected With One Upset

New York—With returns from 345 of the 433 congressional districts and 19 of the 34 senatorial contests, uncertainty continued Wednesday as to whether the sweep for Coolidge and Daves would carry with it enough Republican gains in the two houses to give the president a full working majority in congress. With 153 Republicans and 169 Democrats elected to the house, the net turnover had been only 12 in favor of the Republicans or 5 less than normally would enable the majority party representatives to control over opposition by the LaFollette block.

AMENDMENTS PASS, RETURNS INDICATE

Change Referring to Courts Is Only One Which Failed to Win Acceptance

By Associated Press
Madison—On the basis of returns at 10:45 o'clock it appears that all of the constitutional amendments had carried except that referring to courts in all cases. In 134 precincts the home rule amendment showed a vote of 12,446 for and 11,611 against. The number of precincts showed 14,799 for the forestry amendment and 10,315 against. The proposition relating to courts received a negative vote from the state, the count in 384 precincts showing at 10:45 A. M. 9,435 for the amendment and 13,470 against.

SEES 10,000 LEAD FOR BOB IN DAKOTA

Fargo, N. D.—Bob LaFollette will carry North Dakota by 10,000 votes, Rev. Frazier, acting campaign manager for the Wisconsin senator, declared after reading unofficial returns Wednesday morning which gave President Coolidge a lead of approximately 20,000 votes when about one fourth of the state's precincts had been reported.

Returns from 577 precincts out of 2,160 in North Dakota for president gave Coolidge 46,430; LaFollette 26,271; Davis 2,396, and Foster 30.

The returns included but a few of the reports from the LaFollette strongholds coming mostly from eastern North Dakota.

INDEPENDENT VOTE IS VALID, ATTORNEY GENERAL DECIDES

LaFollette—Wheeler Tickets Marked Only at Top Are Declared Legal

By Associated Press
Madison—Ballots cast in Tuesday's election bearing marks at the head of the LaFollette-Wheeler Independent presidential ticket without marks for the individual electors, should be counted, the attorney general's department ruled Wednesday in an opinion to Secretary of State Fred R. Zimmerman.

The opinion has an important bearing on results of the presidential vote in Wisconsin due to reports from various parts of the state to the effect that voters did not mark the individual LaFollette electors in many instances.

The opinion is significant also from the fact that court proceedings are likely to determine the question.

The legal departments ruling declared it is advisable to leave to the courts the final determination of the point.

The LaFollette campaign in the state was waged on basis of marking all 13 presidential electors. Attorney General Ekern in a statement here recently urged voters to mark all 13 LaFollette electors, saying that this was necessary for the vote to count under Wisconsin laws. In Wednesday's opinion written by Assistant Attorney General F. E. Bump, the legal department said that since all electors appearing in separate column of the independent tickets were of the same political group the ballot should not be thrown out if not marked for all electors.

ELECTION OUTCOME CAUSES MARKET RISE

By Associated Press
New York—Wall Street's first reaction to the election was a sharp upturn in stock prices on an unusually heavy volume of trading. Total sales in the first fifteen minutes exceeded 100,000 shares with approximately one score issues selling a point or more above Monday's closing quotations.

DEMOCRATIC PAPERS GIVES CAL MISSOURI

By Associated Press
St. Louis, Mo.—The St. Louis Post-Dispatch, a Democratic newspaper, Wednesday conceded that President Coolidge had carried Missouri, and would have a total plurality of approximately 55,000. The Post-Dispatch at 10 A. M. was unwilling to concede the election of Sam A. Boker, Republican candidate for governor, declaring the race was "very close."

CHINESE BOY EMPEROR FORCED OUT OF PALACE

By Associated Press
Peking—In consequence of the decision of Feng Yu Hsiang, head of the new Chinese military regime, to take over the imperial city in accordance with the Manchu abdication agreement, the "boy emperor," Hsuan and his entire family Wednesday afternoon left the imperial palace and took up their residence at the palace of Prince Chun, the former regent.

Blaine, LaFollette Pocket Large Leads In Outagamie-Co

Davis Sends Coolidge His Good Wishes

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—John W. Davis Wednesday congratulated President Coolidge on his election to the presidency.

"Permit me to congratulate you," Mr. Davis telegraphed, "on your sweeping victory and to express the hope that your administration may by its success insure the welfare of the country."

President Coolidge sent this reply: "Please accept my thanks for your message and my appreciation of the patriotic sentiments you express."

After getting off to a poor start in the early returns Tuesday evening Senator R. M. LaFollette and Governor John J. Blaine gathered speed as the evening progressed and when the final tabulations were made both candidates had far outdistanced their competitors for votes in Outagamie co. Five of the 46 precincts in the county still are missing but the returns now in give Senator LaFollette a lead of about 2,150 over President Coolidge and a lead of 7,500 over John W. Davis. It is probable this lead will be slightly increased when all the votes are reported.

Governor Blaine did almost as well as LaFollette. He polled more than a thousand fewer votes—than were cast for the senator, but he led his opponent by a wide margin. Mr. Blaine received 7,932 in 41 precincts while Martin L. Lueck was given 4,451. Mr. Blaine's lead also is expected to be increased when all the returns are in.

The senator's candidacy for the presidency was endorsed by every precinct outside of Appleton except three: Bear Creek, Shiocton, and Hortonville. Mr. LaFollette carried Appleton although he lost the first and second wards. The first ward returned a majority of about 3 to 1 against the senator and for Coolidge. The president's lead in the second ward was almost as great.

Gov. Blaine didn't fare quite as well. Bear Creek, Shiocton, Hortonville and the second precinct of Kaukauna voted against him and he was tied with Lueck in Hortonville. Blaine, however, carried the city, although he was swamped in the first and second wards.

WALSH-GILLET RACE FEATURES BAY STATE VOTE

Outcome Still Uncertain With Speaker of House Slightly in Lead

By Associated Press
Boston—A close race between Senator David I. Walsh, Democrat, and Speaker Frederick H. Gillett, of the national house of representatives for senator was an outstanding feature of the election in Massachusetts. The outcome was still uncertain Wednesday with Gillett leading by 7,571 votes in the returns from 1,162 precincts out of 1,432 in the state including 230 Boston precincts.

President Coolidge carried his home state by a plurality over Davis which on the returns from the same precincts had reached 310,335 with LaFollette polling a little more than half the votes cast for Davis. Lieutenant Governor Alvan T. Fuller, Republican, was elected Governor over Mayor James M. Curley of Boston, Democrat, by a plurality in the same precincts of 107,339.

Coolidge carried his home city of Northampton by a vote of 4,426 to 1,860 for Davis and 714 for LaFollette. His friend, James Lucey, of Northampton, cobble-philosopher, was unsuccessful as the Republican candidate for representative in the First Hampshire district, losing to the Democratic candidate by a margin of 193 votes.

The vote of 1,162 precincts was: Coolidge 523,764; Davis 218,327; LaFollette 108,283.

PRESIDENT SETS NOV. 27 AS THANKSGIVING DAY

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—President Coolidge issued a proclamation Wednesday formally proclaiming Thursday, Nov. 27, as Thanksgiving day.

Votes Sure To Go To President

President Has Lead in Seven Doubtful States Including Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota Which Were Considered Certain to Support Independents

New York—As returns from the states continued to roll in Wednesday they served only to swell the tide upon which Calvin Coolidge is riding to an apparently overwhelming victory over his two opponents in the 1924 presidential contest.

In eight states, all of them in the west, the result still was in doubt at midday but the president had a lead in seven of them including Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota which followers of Senator Robert M. LaFollette had expected to give the Independent candidate their electoral votes.

Returns in the congressional contests were slow and at noon they still were insufficient to show whether Mr. Coolidge will have a real working majority of his party in either the house or senate. The Republicans had made a net gain of 12 in the house and apparently of 3 or 4 in the senate. Representative Nicholas Longworth of Ohio, the Republican leader in the house, has been re-elected as has Representative Finis J. Garrett of Tennessee, the Democratic house leader.

VICTORY QUASHES RIVALS' SLANDER, BLAINE PROCLAIMS

Governor Promises to Expose Tactics of Opposition Forces

By Associated Press
Madison—Governor Blaine issued a statement declaring that the outcome of Tuesday's election in Wisconsin is a repudiation of "slandering" tactics used by the opposition. He expressed gratitude over the results.

"The campaign of the opposition consisted entirely in spreading slander about our state and people, both within and without the state," Mr. Blaine said. "The opposition campaign was backed by unlimited cash."

"The slander spread by politicians for political purposes has injured Wisconsin and its business affairs and is bound to injure it in the future if not stopped. I can do the state no greater service than to lay bare and expose the slander and misrepresentation that certain politicians have spread and I propose to do so. I reserve the victory under the circumstances, as complete repudiation of the tactics used by the opposition."

MICHIGAN RETURNS POINT TO G. O. P. WIN

Coolidge Rolls Up Vote of More Than 3 to 1 Against Combined Rivals

By Associated Press
Detroit, Mich.—The usual Republican majorities and defeat of the pro-coalition vote in the election of 1924, a situation which would have banished pro-coalition schools, imposed a state tax on all incomes in excess of $4,000 and reappointed the state to give Wayne co (Detroit) a larger representation in the state legislature, were indicated Wednesday by returns from Tuesday's general election in Michigan.

With more than one third of the state's 775 precincts heard from President Coolidge had rolled up a vote of 3 to 1 against the combined forces of Davis and LaFollette.

The vote in 1,109 precincts was: Coolidge 336,240; Davis 62,698; LaFollette 46,250. United States Senator James Couzens' Republican and candidate for reelection, was leading his Democratic opponent, Dean Mortimer E. Connelley, of the University of Michigan, by a vote of 11,000 to 1,000. Couzens' victory was assured, inasmuch as many of his admitted strongholds are yet to report. The figures in an even 17,000 precincts were: Couzens 289,698; Coolidge 31,990.

COOLIDGE PLURALITY MAY EXCEED HARDING'S

New Haven, Conn.—Returns from 167 of the 169 cities and towns of Connecticut showed a plurality for Coolidge of 115,213, exceeding the plurality for President Harding four years ago by 37,000 votes. The vote of Coolidge 232,882 Davis 107,625, LaFollette 37,171.

President Coolidge is assured of at least 350 votes in the electoral college, nearly 100 more than required to elect, on the basis of incomplete returns on Wednesday.

Vote tabulations thus far give Coolidge 355 electoral votes, Davis 153, LaFollette 16 while 22 still are doubtful.

Wednesday morning reports indicate that LaFollette carried only Wisconsin and Arizona, but his campaign managers in North Dakota claim he will receive that state's five votes.

Electoral votes were classified as follows on Wednesday:

Coolidge—California 13, Colorado 4, Connecticut 7, Delaware 3, Illinois 29, Indiana 15, Iowa 13, Kansas 10, Kentucky 13, Maine 6, Maryland 6, Massachusetts 18, Michigan 15, Minnesota 12, Missouri 15, Nebraska 5, New Hampshire 4, New Jersey 14, New York 36, Ohio 24, Oregon 38, Rhode Island 5, Utah 4, Vermont 4, Washington 7, West Virginia 6, Wyoming 3. Totals 455.

Davis—Alabama 12, Arkansas 9, Florida 6, Georgia 14, Louisiana 9, Mississippi 10, North Carolina 12, Oklahoma 10, South Carolina 9, South Dakota 5, Tennessee 20, Virginia 12. Totals 153.

LaFollette—Arizona 3, Wisconsin 13. Totals 16.

Doubtful—Idaho 4, Montana 4, Nevada 3, Mexico 3, North Dakota 5. Totals 22.

Chicago—Returns from 3,550 out of 5,859 precincts in Illinois gave Coolidge 584,476; Davis 308,778; LaFollette 240,244. For senator 3,120 out of 5,859 precincts gave Deneen, Republican, 150,883; Sprague, Democrat 428,995. For governor 3,442 out of 5,859 precincts gave Small, Republican, 779,923; Jones, Democrat, 643,821.

COOLIDGE LEAD IN MINNESOTA GROWS

By Associated Press
St. Paul, Minn.—President Coolidge at noon Wednesday had a lead over Senator LaFollette in Minnesota of 51,341 votes in 1,201 of the state's 3,607 precincts. The president had 133,896 votes as compared with 137,535 polled by the Wisconsin senator and 27,570 given Davis.

For United States Senator 1,155 precincts gave Schall Republican 151,458; Johnson, Farmer-Labor 135,322, and Farrell, Democrat 21,623.

In the gubernatorial race Theodore Christianson, Republican, had 159,941 votes in 1,115 precincts, Floyd R. Olson, Farmer-Labor 136,987, and Avery, Democrat 18,075.

BERGER CLAIMING MAJORITY OF 743

Milwaukee—With only 3 precincts missing out of 219 in the district, Victor J. Berger, Socialist congressman from the Fifth district, Wisconsin, apparently is leading his Republican opponent by 123 votes. At noon the official count stood: Berger 72,549; Brian 29,771.

SIX NATIONS READY FOR VIRILE FIGHT TO REGAIN LANDS

Council at Oneida Protests Tribal Desertion and Sale of School Land

Vigorous prosecution of the Six Nations claim to title to large areas in the state of New York is to take place now that the Indians have signed the contract with Wise Whitney and Barker of New York to act as their attorneys, according to an announcement of Mrs. Laura Cornelius Kellogg of Seymour, leader of the Oneidas. Money raised among the members of the tribes will be used to pay the attorneys and prepare the case, according to the terms of the document which is signed by the chiefs of all the tribes in the Six Nations.

Oneidas living at the reservation north of here held a large national council at which they reaffirmed the authority given the national committee to handle their affairs.

SOME SUPPORT "PALEFACES"

Resentment was expressed at the council against several of the Oneidas who not only have refused to support the claim but have helped opposing forces in trying to hamper the campaign started by the Six Nations. Those leading in the movement to regain title to lands which were granted to them by treaty and since alleged to have been sold illegally, have found considerable opposition from the "palefaces" in New York. Propaganda is being spread in every locality where the tribes of the Six Nations live, according to Mrs. Kellogg. It was even charged at the council that the contents of the tribes have become paid agents of the white interests and they have been charged with treachery by the General Council of the Confederate. Chief W. K. Cornelius of the Muncietown Oneidas of Canada, who was at Oneida reservation to attend the council, declared that these opponents have failed to accomplish their purpose although they have created trouble by their campaign in the New York press.

It is not generally known, according to Mrs. Kellogg, that the department of the interior has changed its attitude toward the Six Nations claim. Commissioner Burke some time ago issued a statement to the press declaring that Indians were liable to lose out if they gave money toward prosecution of this case. A letter written by Mr. Burke, and from which Nelson Metoxen, councillor, read to the Oneidas, says "That as the proposed contract contemplates proceedings against the states of New York and Pennsylvania and in no way has to do with the recovery of monies from the government of the United States, it is not believed to come within the statute requiring approval, and therefore we express no opinion as to the form of the contract or its terms."

BOB REFUSES TO COMMENT ON RACE

Madison—Senator LaFollette will make no comment on the election for Tuesday night, he told newspapermen shortly after 10 o'clock.

At the state capitol, where he received the election returns by special wire, Senator LaFollette indicated to friends that he would be unable to appraise the results on the basis of fragmentary returns.

He awaited each bulletin eagerly, smiling as the figures were read and remarking from time to time to a small circle of friends, on the significance he attached to the reports. He would have nothing for publication, however, he said, until the returns might be studied.

Another matter which was the source of considerable discussion at the Oneida council was the sale of the Oneida school property by the Indian bureau without either notification to the Indians or obtaining of their consent. The bureau sold the property to Murphy Land Co., Green Bay, without any publication or other notice, according to those who spoke at the council. Later it became known that the land company acted for the Green Bay Catholic diocese.

It was felt by the tribe that this tract of 80 acres upon which the Oneida school was built should be preserved as a tribal estate. Oneidas bought this land from the Menominee Indians with their own funds and the United States had nothing to do with it except as a prosecutor over all of the Six Nations. The Oneidas say they will sign no deed giving the property to any sectarian interest, no matter what the denomination. They are to take this matter up with their attorney when he visits the reservation about Nov. 17.

NEARLY 20,000 PEOPLE VOTED IN OUTAGAMIE CO

All Records for Balloting Broken This Year—Voting Started Early

Among the features of the general election in this county Tuesday was the unprecedented vote cast in practically every precinct polling place. Special efforts made by all parties to bring out every elector in the polls were rewarded by considerable success.

Not only was the interest revived after the apathy manifested in the primary election, but the total vote polled ran far ahead of any ever cast before. Thirty-eight of the 46 precincts in the county registered a total of 16,327 votes, with the probability of coming close to the 20,000 mark, which is twice the vote recorded in the elections two years ago.

Voters not only flocked to the polls in greater numbers but also made use of the lighter hours in the morning. In many of the precincts voters had formed a waiting line before the polls were opened.

First voters in Appleton were as follows: First ward, first precinct—Carl Everson, 665 Rankin-st; second precinct—O. C. Lipke, 614 Spring-st. Second ward, first precinct—E. W. Green, 784 College-ave; second precinct—F. J. Harriman, 903 Perry-st. Third ward, first precinct—John Ritter, 510 Walnut-st; second precinct—Joseph Heckel, 1403 College-ave. Fourth ward, first precinct—Frank Roehl, 62 W. Main-st; second precinct—Joseph Becher, Jr., Fifth ward first precinct—Frank Brewer, 1089 Atlantic-st; second precinct—Fred Koepsell, 1132 Harris-st. Sixth ward, first precinct—Ray Jennerjahn, 992 Morrison-st; second precinct—August Radtke, 1175 Oneida-st.

ON THE SCREEN

A STORY OF SMALL TOWN HAPPENINGS AND METROPOLITAN LIFE

Old loves like old friends are best, is the theme which runs like a thread of gold through The Lesson, which is at the New Bijou Theatre today and Thursday.

Virginia Terburn Van de Water is responsible for the intensely human story from which the photoplay was made, and Constance Talmadge is adorable as the small town girl, who finds her country sweetheart, admirably played by Tom Moore, for the village fat man, afforded the audience many a merry moment, which relieved the tension of the highly dramatic episodes.

The story centers around Helen Drayton, played by Constance Talmadge, who becomes bored by the dull routine of life in a small town. While she is fond of her beau, Chet Vernon, portrayed by Tom Moore, she is fascinated by John Galvin, a city architect, and elopes with him. It is not long before the young wife discovers that her husband is thoroughly selfish and untrustworthy, and the slight bond between them is soon stretched to the breaking point. Through this unhappy experience she learns the difference between real worth and base imitation.

The acting in The Lesson is well above the average throughout the entire production, and at times it is unsurpassed, but after all that is only what one would expect of such finished artists as Constance Talmadge and Walter Hiers and Tom Moore.

"MADONNA OF THE STREETS" is a stirring dramatic story of London's famous Limehouse district. Nazimova, the famous Russian actress who returns to the screen, after an absence of two years, and Milton Sills take the featured roles. The story contains a colorful romance, and is said to be one of the most fascinating pictures of the world's most famous Chinatown that the screen has ever held.

The picture finishes its engagement at the Elitte theatre tonight.

"WINE" One of the strongest casts ever assembled to make a motion picture interprets the story of "Wine," Universal-Jewel which will be shown in the Elitte theatre commencing Thursday. The picture is the screen version of one of the most sensational exposes of the manner in which the Volstead act is violated, the story of the same name by William MacFarg, published in the Cosmopolitan magazine. Included in the cast are Clara Bow, Forrest Stanley, Robert Agnew, Huntly Gordon, Myrtle Stedman, Leo White and Walter Long; Louis Gasnier directed.

MENASHA CHOOSES BOB BUT DESERTS BLAINE FOR LUECK

Lampert Leads for Congress—Dowling Beats Gore in Sheriff's Race

Menasha, Progressive in his choice for president, kicked over the traces in the selection of a governor and gave Judge Martin Lueck the majority as against the LaFollette nominee, Gov. John J. Blaine. LaFollette carried the city almost two to one over Coolidge for the presidency.

The senator won out in every ward in Menasha except the First. He carried that by only two votes. He polled a total of 1,159 votes, Coolidge 634 and Davis 313.

Blaine, running on the LaFollette ticket, carried three wards in Menasha, the Second, Fourth and Fifth. Lueck's votes amounted to 1,042 and those of Blaine 998.

The presidential vote stood:
Coolidge Davis LaFollette
First 131 51 179
Second 127 99 295

AMENDMENTS HAVE POOR CHANCE OF GETTING BY HERE

Early Returns Indicate All Three Changes in Basic Law Are Defeated

A tendency to vote down all state constitutional amendments was exhibited in Outagamie county in the referendum Tuesday. Not one of the three issues submitted to the people by the state legislature was sure of passage. On one issue the affirmative and negative were running close, a second seemed likely to carry while a third was practically certain of defeat.

Both city and country districts were divided on the question of home rule for cities and villages. The first six precincts of the city of Appleton to report on this vote registered a majority in opposition to home rule, while a number of rural precincts, where the home rule measure would hardly affect, gave a majority in favor of the measure. With slightly more than one-half of the precincts heard from, the vote in the county stood 2,849 in favor of home rule, and 2,815 opposed.

The proposed amendment to enable

Cal Sure Of Win In Davis Home State

Charleston, W. Va.—West Virginia was virtually assured of throwing its eight electoral votes into the Coolidge column on the face of returns from less than half of the state. A Republican lead of 25,336 was shown on tabulation of returns from 936 of the state's 2,191 precincts. The vote was Coolidge 134,105; Davis 108,769; LaFollette 12,085.

the state to engage in reforestation projects fared somewhat better in the county. Of 29 precincts heard from, 3,402 persons voted in favor of reforestation and 2,348 voted against it. Appleton precincts gave the measure strong support while most of the rural precincts were inclined to disapprove of it. In the second ward of Appleton the amendment received a 3 to 1 majority.

Addition of circuit court judges in well populated counties was frowned upon by a majority of the voters from the first 29 precincts that gave returns. Although the measure was given fair support in Appleton, it lost out in practically every one of the remaining precincts giving early returns. The total vote in favor of additional court facilities was 2,230, and the vote against it 3,112, with 25 precincts yet to be heard from.

THE ELECTION

The result of the election is a personal triumph to President Coolidge and a tribute to the stability and good judgment of the American people. In the absence of a leader of Coolidge's type, there is every probability that the Republican party would have been badly beaten. We do not regard the election as a vote of confidence in this party. It has a legislative and administrative record during the last four years that was altogether against it. It appears that it will have control of only the house in the next congress, which emphasizes the fact that the people came to the support of a man and the principles he advocates rather than a set party policy.

The trend of public opinion was clearly discernible all through the campaign. There was never any real doubt about the smallness of LaFollette's electoral vote. Davis' minority or the strength of Coolidge. The Progressive-Socialist alliance will pretend to be satisfied with the result, but that is merely whistling through the graveyard. The people of the United States are not going to uproot their institutions or steer away from the channel that has led them through one hundred fifty years of national existence to constantly better things and to the foremost position in the world in point of material welfare, spiritual blessings, high level of living conditions spread of prosperity.

All indications now point to increased commercial and industrial activity, and we have every reason to believe that the heavy reduction in government expenditures and in taxation brought about during the last four years will be continued. We may also, we think, look forward to a modification of some of the policies and legislation against which there is complaint, and to a wholesome regard for public opinion. Radicalism will not make much progress if this forecast is correct. In fact, we look for it to slump. We are receding from the effects and disturbances of the war, and settling down to more orderly existence. The discontent, which followed the dislocation of business and production and the grueling and emotional experiences of that period, has about spent itself. We have gone back to work as a nation and our efforts and thoughts are more constructive.

All this helped to prepare the country for an appreciation of a man of Calvin Coolidge's type. The reaction against radicalism and revolutionary proposals had set in and welcomed a leader moored to the foundations and traditions of the republic. Hocus-pocus has had a great fall. Every producer, every real worker, will be better off, regardless of how he voted or what he may think at this writing.

BALDWIN'S PROGRAM

It is generally assumed that Stanley Baldwin will be asked to form the new Conservative government of England, since he is the leader of the party and was prime minister at the time of its defeat last December. Before the election Mr. Baldwin said that if he were returned to power he would pledge himself to reject the Anglo-Russian treaty negotiated by the Labor government. He also promised to support and strengthen the League of Nations, "on practical lines," as a cardinal principle of British foreign policy. Finally, he would inaugurate a system of preferential duties within the empire to promote imperial trade.

Mr. Baldwin's defeat was brought about largely, if not entirely, by his poorly timed advocacy of a protective tariff. He has not referred to this subject in the recent campaign, except in a very elusive manner, so that his attitude on the question is not definitely stated. It is taken for granted, however, that he will abandon his original proposal and content himself with a policy of preferential duties among the colonies.

The most important departure in foreign policy from that of MacDonald will be the rejection of the treaty with Russia. In this we think he will have the approval of the British people as well as of the other powers. There was some reason to believe at the time the Labor government negotiated the treaty that it might have the support of the commercial and financial interests of the empire, but events since then have placed the treaty in an unfavorable light, and a change of opinion has unmistakably taken place.

Russia appears to be doomed to hard sledding in its future relations with the British government. Before it can receive very much from Great Britain, either in the form of a loan or capital for development, it will have to come across with suitable guarantees of good behavior and a recognition of its repudiated obligations.

The Conservative party will be in an exceptionally strong position in the new parliament. It will have a clear majority over both the Liberals and Laborites, and while the Labor party has maneuvered itself into second position and will be the recognized opposition, the Tories can unquestionably count on the assistance of some Liberal votes on many measures. Labor increased its popular vote over that received last year, but the Conservatives increased their vote more than twice as much, indicating that the Liberals mostly went to the latter.

The Conservatives are pledged to reduce unemployment, to relieve the bad British house situation, help agriculture and reduce prices, but nothing is said as to how these results are to be brought about. All of which reminds us of our party promises so generously indulged in by politicians on this side of the ocean who think they can change economic and even natural laws as well.

THE TONIC BUSINESS MAN.

It is not the rugged leg show, yelp the musical comedy, which makes the business man tired. It is the way he works—the public.

Scientific investigation indicates that the inventor of the T. B. M. joke was no mean humorist, after all. It appears from studies of volunteer subjects in the calorimeter and respiration chamber, that brain function involves no greater expenditure of energy than a liver action does. It is as ridiculous to call the business man a "liver worker" as it is to call the lout who sits about and feeds freely a "liver worker." The business man has as much excuse to feel tired after a hard day's conversation, writing, scheming and conferring how to put it over and all that sort of thing, as the plain ordinary sap has after an equally hard day devoted to the acquisition and consumption of cigarettes. Neither the business man nor the sap is really or honestly tired. They're both toxic. They need no less shows, revues or follies. They need leg work—or any other kind of honest work—to relieve the ennui.

But when I say the business man is toxic I do not mean that he is intoxicated or auto-intoxicated. I mean just what I say—he is poisonous. A lot of business men who are a little short in the rudiments of courtesy are toxic. It is the weakness they haven't the strength to overcome.

Here is what I mean:

Dear Doctor Brady:
I am a girl 16 years of age. I work in an office which is only 7 feet wide and 9 feet long. My employers and some of their male associates are much in the office and they are all heavy smokers. You can imagine how nauseating it is for me to inhale the nasty smoke all day. At first it made me cough a great deal, but they only laughed and assured me I'd "get used to it" after a while. I never have been able to get used to it. I seem to have a little cough all the while now, and I have lost 12 pounds. I've stood it for seven months, but now that winter is coming on I am afraid my cold may run into something serious. What would you advise me to do?

Yours respectfully,

(MISS) K. L.

A fair specimen of many letters I have received from the victims of poison. This girl was advised to find a place with a properly conducted business house.

It is not merely the offensive odor of tobacco smoke, to the olfactory sense of many who do not smoke, but the actual poisonous effect the inhalation of the second hand smoke has upon a youthful organism, which effect is the same in quality as that of smoking. Is the girl who wrote the letter developing tuberculosis? Possibly. The conditions to which she is exposed in her work would predispose to the development of the disease. It is certainly unjustifiable and inexcusable for a business man to subject an employee to such poisoning.

The best evidence I can cite in support of the scientific observation that business is not new, strain is the amount of business that is done while all hands are under the influence of tobacco. Per-sons have to have their wits about them know they must not indulge in tobacco, which slows both perception and reaction time. The man who gets the greatest pleasure and the least injury from tobacco is the one who reserves his smoke until his day's work is done.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Popcorn.

I have a strong craving for buttered popcorn. Has popcorn any harmful effect on the stomach? Is there any reason why a person should not indulge in it? (Mrs. Z. H. E.)

Answer.—No, it is wholesome enough. It has about the same food value as bread, weight for weight. It is a natural laxative.

Doctor Trips Over Pores.

What's all this here now? "Some say 'tis and some say 'tain't. Let's have a little sarcasm in reference to the marked item enclosed. (Michigan Student.)

Answer.—The item is a newspaper clipping of a query about face powders and cosmetics. Does one using such cosmetics absorb poison through the pores enough to injure health? And the doctor in his reply says yes. If the poisonous kinds are used. Well, maybe the doctor was out on a case the night before. Anyhow he was wrong. The lead in absorbent cosmetics is absorbed, if at all, through inhalation, ingestion or abrasions of the skin, not through "pores". Hoping this is sufficiently sarcastic, I beg to remain, etc.

Great These Snappy Mornings

How about buckwheat griddle cakes every morning for breakfast? I have them nearly all winter. My work is outdoor work. I find it hard to get up mornings.

Answer.—Well, I find it hard to get up mornings and even when there are no pancakes, so it can't be that. I see no reason why you shouldn't eat buckwheat griddle cakes every morning if you do enough work to earn 'em and burn 'em. Sedentary indoor folk who never work as long as their wits will prevent it, must deny themselves buckwheat cakes for breakfast most mornings, or suffer with so called "biliousness"—overeating.

Gasoline Vapor

Kindly inform me if working in a room where the air is heavy with gasoline fumes and there is no ventilation is harmful. My stomach is bothering me, and I also get very dizzy and numb and have headache. (V. C. C.)

Answer.—Headache, dizziness, nausea, sometimes vomiting, difficult breathing, palpitation and in severe cases loss of consciousness (coma) may be caused by inhaling gasoline vapor. If natural ventilation is impossible, mechanical fans, blowers or exhaust ventilation should be provided in work-rooms where gasoline is much used. These effects of gasoline poisoning are immediate, but health is likely to suffer for a long time after the poisoning.

ROLLO.

New Calendar Has 13 Months

(From The Kansas City Star.)

A new arrangement of the calendar embodying the ideas of Prof. Charles F. Marvin, chief of the United States weather bureau was presented before the meeting of the International Geodetic and Geophysical union, at Madrid, Spain, recently. Prof. Marvin's representative at the meeting was Prof. H. H. Kimball also of the weather bureau.

Prof. Marvin has long believed the present division of the year into 12 months of unequal length is awkward and should be changed. He likens the present calendar, in which the length of the months varies from 28 to 31 days, to a confusing yardstick which would sometimes measure 36 inches and sometimes 38 or 39. He believes that much convenience would be gained by both business and science if months were always of equal length and always began on the same day, and he advised a calendar on that basis, which was presented before the Madrid meeting.

28-DAY MONTHS
Prof. Marvin's calendar is very simple. The year is divided into 13 months instead of 12, and each month has exactly 28 days. Each page of his calendar would look like this:

Sun.	Mon.	Tues.	Wed.	Thurs.	Fri.	Sat.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
8	9	10	11	12	13	14
15	16	17	18	19	20	21
22	23	24	25	26	27	28

There would never be any change All months would have the same days on the same dates, forever.

The 13-month year would have one day, the three hundred sixty-fifth day, left over. Prof. Marvin proposes to stick this odd day in somewhere between Christmas and New Year's as an additional holiday. In leap years another day would be inserted between two midsummer months as a midsummer holiday.

A number of advantages to business in the proposed arrangements are pointed out. The beginning of each month, and the beginning of the year, would always be also the beginning of a week—a considerable matter in the ordering of office routine. People who are paid by the month or semi-month would always have Saturday for pay day. Legal holidays that now shift, like Christmas, New Year's and July 4, would always come on the same day of the week.

Religious festivals that move about like Easter, could be given a definite date. Authorities of the Roman Catholic, Eastern Orthodox and Anglican churches have agreed that a fixed date for Easter could be arranged.

ELEVEN-DAY ERROR

The last calendar reform occurred in 1582, when Pope Gregory XIII revised the old Julian calendar, which had been in use since the time of Caesar. The Julian calendar had allowed too many leap years, and in the course of centuries an error amounting to 11 days had crept in. It took some time for Gregory's calendar to be adopted, but long before the beginning of the nineteenth century all western nations except Russia were using it.

Russia clung to the Julian calendar until 1923, when the soviet government brought its dates into agreement with those of the rest of the world. The calendar adopted in Russia last year contains one very slight modification, designed to offset a minor inaccuracy left in the reckoning by Gregory, but this is of interest only to astronomers, since the change is not to take effect until the year 2000, and the error is so small that it will not amount to a full day until the year 4600.

The proposed new calendar is even more closely calculated than the latest Russian model. But one unescapable source of error still intrudes. It is known now that each year is shorter than the one preceding by a very small amount, to fifty-three one-hundredths of a second in a century. Prof. Marvin states that by the time this unavoidable error introduces a difference of one day in his method of reckoning, it will be the year 13000 A. D.

Plan Ships With Steerage Only

(James H. Collins in The Saturday Evening Post)

As the new "white collar" steerage traffic grows, say steamship officials, we shall see all-sterage liners on the transatlantic route. They won't be called that, of course, but one-class ships, or ships of democracy, yet they will be third class ships in accommodations and table, with present day steerage fares of about $90 to England or France.

As they will carry nothing but third class passengers these will have the run of the whole vessel.

"There is one such ship already," said a steamship official. "We spent $75,000 refitting it for this trade. It was a freighter during the war. It is large, carries 2,150 passengers, with a dining room seating capacity of 700 and plenty of deck room, open and covered. The fittings are plain—no frills—designed for comfort and cleanliness, not show.

"It isn't a five-day ocean greyhound, either, 'taking between eight and nine days to cross. But it saves the passenger money at the rate of $15 to $25 a day over first class for that it will not amount to a full day until the year 4600.

The proposed new calendar is even more closely calculated than the latest Russian model. But one unescapable source of error still intrudes. It is known now that each year is shorter than the one preceding by a very small amount, to fifty-three one-hundredths of a second in a century. Prof. Marvin states that by the time this unavoidable error introduces a difference of one day in his method of reckoning, it will be the year 13000 A. D.

ONLY LIVING DESCENDANT?

The Duke of Alba, who, with his party, is spending his vacation at Banff, Canada, admits being the only living descendant of Columbus.

The complete history of the crew of Columbus' three vessels, the letters that were written at the time this country was discovered and much important historical data, according to the duke, rest in his private archives at Toledo, Spain.

The duke represents the fifteenth generation of the Columbus descendants.

every day it takes, and every day is part of the passenger's vacation.

"For the visitor to New York, unable to afford the high-priced hotels, there are many smaller and less conspicuous hotels at reasonable prices, quite respectable, comfortable and clean. This ship corresponds to the reasonably-priced hotel, and no one accustomed to the latter will find himself out of place on it."

Make $17,500 Finance Task Joyous One

Womans Club Hopes to Raise Budget and Also Pay Off Building Debt

"Drama, not drudgery," is the slogan that members of Appleton Womans club will carry in their hearts and minds next week during their finance campaign to raise the budget of $17,500 and to pay off the remaining debt of $2,500 on the club building. The finance campaign will be formally opened with a banquet at the clubhouse on Monday evening, Nov. 10. It will close Nov. 15. During this period all those women who have registered earlier in the season will be given an opportunity to contribute to the support of the club. This also will be the time when citizens may show their appreciation by assisting to maintain it. For weeks the committee in charge have been busy with plans for the campaign.

The Tangle

LETTER FROM SALLY ATHERTON TO BEATRICE GRIMSHAW Hope you can come early next week for your visit, dear Bee. Leslie called me up yesterday to tell me that she was going to celebrate her wedding anniversary the last of next week, and wanted me to add my plea to her's that you would surely be here for that interesting occasion. Just why any one should want to celebrate a wedding anniversary is something I cannot fathom. Any anniversary is bad enough, but a wedding anniversary is the worst of the bunch. I'd rather have a birthday party, and Lord knows my birthdays have been shoved into the discard for quite a few years now. You would laugh, Bee, if you could see his Royal Highness, John Alden Prescott, these days. He's an entirely different man since his wife came home. From his actions you would think that he felt he had done some terrible thing in inviting me out to dinner a few times while his wife was away. Since her return he has gone away glumly every day to eat his luncheon alone, and every time he has passed me and said: "I'm going to luncheon, Mrs. Atherton," he's given me a queer little look out of the tail of his eye as though he were calculating as to whether I had expected him to ask me to lunch and was disappointed because he didn't do it. I get enough of him during the day when he is in this capitious mood without having to entertain him during the luncheon hour. I went to the house the other night to call on Leslie, and there seemed some sort of constraining in her manner, not toward me, but toward her husband. I wonder if she has anything on her mind? While I was there Ruth Ellington came in. I don't think you have met her. I was again struck by her cleverness. She seems to be able to wind Leslie around her little finger, at least. Leslie has unbounded admiration for her business ability—a business ability which rather riles friend husband. It's a wonder Jack Alden Prescott has any use for me in his office, as from what he said the other night I could see he thought no woman was capable of doing business on a large scale. Ruth Ellington has demonstrated that she can do this, and with an investment that was nothing more than a shoe string. She takes a strange delight in informing Mr. Prescott how her business is growing. I didn't stay very long. Either Leslie or Mr. Prescott is very interesting and amusing, taken alone, but when they are together they are impossible—at least for me. I don't think I care much for little journeys to the homes of my wedding friends. I wonder if when you marry Dick Summers, Bee, I'll have to cut you out of my friendship book. I hope not, for Lord knows there are too few names there already. Come down, dear. I think I need you, or I feel that I am getting rather more cynical than usual. But

NO TROUBLE WHEN BABY CAME

Mrs. Crossan Gives Credit to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mrs. Dakan Also Tells What This Medicine Does

St. Joseph, Missouri.—"I heard so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I decided to try it as I had had such a hard time with my first child. I took nine bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I never felt better in my life than the day my baby girl was born. I will be glad to tell what it will do, to any woman who will let me know her address." Mrs. ROSA DAKAN, 2227 S. 11th St., St. Joseph, Missouri.

Back To Normal Health New Orleans, La.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound while I was carrying my child and I must praise it highly because I never suffered one day during that time and could do all my housework and had a very easy confinement. I am still taking the Vegetable Compound because I have a weakness due to working around the house so soon after my baby was born. But thanks again to the Vegetable Compound I am getting back to normal health once more. I advise any woman to take it."—Mrs. A. MEYER, JR., 2019 Touro St., New Orleans, Louisiana.

Not A Bit of Trouble Wilmington, Delaware.—"I was nervous and weak and not at all regular. I worked in a factory at the time and could not work very much. I was sick over a year, then a friend told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I started to pick up as soon as I began taking it. Then I took it again before my first baby was born and I never had a bit of trouble. I recommend it highly."—Mrs. JANE CROSSAN, 612 Pine St., Wilmington, Delaware.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped many other women just as it has helped Mrs. Dakan, Mrs. Meyer and Mrs. Crossan. Consider the statements of these women. They give you the benefit of their actual experience with the Vegetable Compound.

A nation wide canvass of women purchasers of the Vegetable Compound reports that 98 out of every 100 have been benefited by its use. This is a remarkable record and proves the dependability of the medicine for the relief of the troubles women often have.

For weak and run-down conditions so common after child-birth it is well adapted. It strengthens and tones up the system and restores normal health.

The Vegetable Compound contains no harmful drugs or narcotics and can be taken in safety by the nursing mother. For sale by druggists everywhere.

BLAINE TICKETS
GIVEN MAJORITYCity Casts Average Vote—
Bridge Bond Issues Approved
the Second Time

Kaukauna — The Electric City turned out an average vote in Tuesday's presidential election. The LaFollette and Blaine tickets ran true to expectations and were given big majorities in every ward. Those candidates lead in Kaukauna nearly 3 to 1.

The three amendment questions also passed by big majorities. Kaukauna's bridge bond issue question received a much larger vote than the first time and the resolution passed 4 to 1 in every ward. The resolution, which was printed in full on the ballots, authorized the city to float two bond issues of $50,000 each for the construction of a bridge across the Fox river and a draw bridge across the transportation canal.

The result of the first special election more than a month ago was declared invalid because of a few illegal steps in the proceedings. Since the issue was approved by the public, however, the city went on with its plans, assuming the issue would be carried at the next election, thus waiving little time. The ballots will be opened the second week in November and the building will be rushed.

To vote this year was a complicated job for many. There are a lot of people who apparently do not pay much attention to government progress. There were a great many defective ballots and many were not marked at all. In the fourth and fifth precinct alone 175 ballots on the three amendments were returned unmarked. The number of ballots which were marked wrong and had to be thrown out was larger in every ward than usual.

LAFOLLETTE WINS
IN MOCK ELECTION

Kaukauna — Mock elections in schools, besides serving as an instructive pastime, are usually considered a good indication as to the inclination of the qualified voters of the city. This fact proved true Tuesday when mock elections in the high school and junior high school LaFollette a good majority with Davis running a poor third.

The elections were conducted in the same manner that regular election are held. There were voting polls, election clerks and inspectors. In the high school committees had been appointed to present the principals and platforms of each presidential candidate.

The Coolidge campaigners were Roy Kuehl, Norbert Gerend and Vira Pleshek, for Davis, John Jansen, Mildred Feller and John Rohan, for LaFollette, Merritt Cavanaugh, Olive Kenney and Carl Grimm.

LaFollette received 126 votes, Coolidge 87 and Davis 26. "Andy Gump" also had a strong following but failed to carry the election although early returns gave him a threatening lead.

In the junior high school Wisconsin's choice for president received a scant majority of two votes. He polled 28 tickets to Coolidge's 37 votes. Davis was left out altogether for he did not receive a vote.

NO GAIN IN H. S.
THRIFT REPORTS

Kaukauna — Bank day Tuesday found little change in the average of the high school. The school deposited $89.70 with 72 per cent of students contributing money. The same class again were perfect thrift classes but the thrift banner for the week was awarded to Miss Gertrude Gowan's English class which turned in $25.72. Other 100 per cent classes were Miss Martha Gibbons, sewing 11; Miss Carol Boorman, cooking 11; Miss Clara Klosterman, French 8; history, and Miss Marcelle Thompson, library.

Results of bank day in junior high school were: 12th, 100 per cent; 11th, 100 per cent; 10th, 100 per cent; 9th, 100 per cent; 8th, 100 per cent; 7th, 100 per cent; 6th, 100 per cent; 5th, 100 per cent; 4th, 100 per cent; 3rd, 100 per cent; 2nd, 100 per cent; 1st, 100 per cent.

POULTRY SALE ON STOCK FAIR DAY

Merchants and Officers Preparing for Monthly Pig Fair Saturday

Kaukauna — Merchants of the city and officers of the Tri-county fair association are making final plans for the monthly stock fair which takes place Saturday. Merchants have formed the custom of offering special bargains and of giving away prizes.

In addition to sponsoring the pig fair the association is branching into another direction for this month's event by starting a poultry fair. The farmers have been invited to bring all the chickens they have for sale. Local citizens will be urged to purchase the poultry for their holiday supply. The farmer is guaranteed a total sale for the association has agreed to buy up all poultry otherwise not sold.

Purebred stock is being impressed upon the farmers as a means of increasing their profits. The fair association is trying to interest its patrons in beginning this fall to raise full bred pigs so that by next spring the farmers will have a steady supply of full bred stock for market.

It has been intimated the fair association will put on a farmers institute in December.

Social Items

Kaukauna — Holy Cross church, No. 303, Catholic Order of Foresters, held its regular meeting Monday evening in north side Forester hall. Routine business was transacted. PIMPPLY? WELL, DON'T BE

People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c and 30c.

Board of Education Will Consider Plan of School Savings System

Neenah—Winnebago-co Bankers association has offered to install a system of school savings in the schools of Neenah without expense to the city. This was the substance of a letter from that organization read by the secretary at the meeting of the board of education at Kimberly high school Monday afternoon. After a discussion the members requested more time to investigate the proposition and action was deferred until the next meeting.

The secretary submitted a letter from the assistant attorney general relating to whether the school board had authority to condemn property for school uses. The opinion of that official was that the condemning should have been done by the city authorities rather than the school board.

Relative to the matter of a formal report from Wisconsin Industrial commission as to the inspection of schools the superintendent was instructed to get an estimate of the cost, following out the recommendation of the report.

CHURCHES IN BRIGHT COLORS
URGED

The Wisconsin Synod of the Presbyterian church has hit upon what is considered an ethical and dignified advertising idea for the modern church. It is to paint all churches in bright colors on the outside. This idea is intended, of course, for country churches or the frame structures in cities as alone would hardly lend itself that way. It is proposed to give each church a sign which will be used commonly on all Presbyterian churches so that everyone at a glance will know it is a Presbyterian house of worship.

A giant salmon found its way into Puget Sound near Anacortes, Wash., not long ago and was caught in a salmon trap operated by the San Juan company. It measured four feet long. Trollers in the Seattle harbor reported catching many salmon that weighed 50 to 60 pounds each.

AUTOISTS CARRY GOAT

Goat milk en route was enjoyed by a Colorado motor party recently. The camping party fixed a stall for a milk goat on the running board of their medium sized auto and consequently had a supply of milk on their transcontinental trip. The goat would eat leisurely even while the car was in motion.

MUSK OX GETS PROTECTION

Although half a century ago large herds of musk oxen could be found in the regions stretching from the Hudson bay to the Arctic and tracks of these herds were visible up to 25 years ago, they have been almost entirely depleted in the last 25 years and the Canadian government is now taking rigorous steps to protect what few are remaining. The musk ox is said to be valuable for other than zoological reasons and is of great social and economic value to the Dominion.

MENASHA WINNER
IN GRID CONTEST

Takes Victory from New London High School Tuesday by Score of 15 to 7

Menasha—New London high school football aggregation was no match for Coach N. Calder's team of Menasha high school which defeated it Tuesday afternoon at Recreation park, 15 to 7. The visitors got their only touchdown in the last quarter on a fumble punt. The only ground they gained was on passes.

Menasha used all end runs and line smashes and the players took the ball down the field whenever they so desired. The outstanding features of the game were Capt. Remmet's running punts and field generalship, Smith's and Jensen's consistent ground gaining and Mott's defensive work. All the members of the team played their usual strong defensive and offensive game.

Lineup for Menasha:
Scholl, right tackle; Chapman, right guard; Hess, center; Farback, left guard; Lonskron, left tackle; Jape, end; Capt. Remmet, quarterback; Mott, right half; Smith, left half; Jensen, fullback; McLaughlin, right tackle with Saechter as substitute.

LEMKE'S AGONY IS ENDED BY DEATH

End Comes Tuesday Afternoon to Stephenville Man Who Was Burned

Death ended the sufferings at 430 Tuesday afternoon of William Lemke, 62, Stephenville man who was lying at Stedra Clark hospital, Neenah, with severe burns suffered when he fainted and fell over onto a hot cook-stove at his home last Sunday afternoon. No hopes were held out for his recovery because he was unable to take nourishment.

Funeral services will be held at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon at the home at Stephenville, after which the body will be conveyed to the Lutheran church for further rites. The Rev. Emil Redlin will be in charge. Interment will be made in the Lutheran cemetery at Stephenville.

Mr. Lemke was proprietor of a general store in the village. He had spent most of his life at Stephenville. The survivors are his widow and seven children, Albert, Lloyd, Richard, Harvey, Harry, Walter and Martha. All are at home except Albert, who moved a few days ago to Shiocton.

44,552 RURAL ROUTES IN U. S.
Postmaster General Harry New has reported that there are 44,552 rural mail routes in the United States, serving 6,604,692 families or 33,021,123 individuals. The postal service now uses annually more than 300 tons of stationery and typewriting paper; some 175,000,000 envelopes; more than 70,000 quarts of ink; more than 35,000 quarts of mucilage; 1,620,000 lead pencils; nearly 6,000,000 steel pens, 100,000,000 paper clips, rubber bands by the ton and 2,331,446 pounds of twine.

The name "Camembert" applying to cheese cannot be registered as a trademark in France, according to a recent decision, because it is known to the public as merely a type of cheese and not as the product of a particular manufacturer.

CHURCHES IN BRIGHT COLORS
URGED

The Wisconsin Synod of the Presbyterian church has hit upon what is considered an ethical and dignified advertising idea for the modern church. It is to paint all churches in bright colors on the outside. This idea is intended, of course, for country churches or the frame structures in cities as alone would hardly lend itself that way. It is proposed to give each church a sign which will be used commonly on all Presbyterian churches so that everyone at a glance will know it is a Presbyterian house of worship.

CHURCHES HELP TO HOUSE YOUTHS
AT CONFERENCE

Gathering Here This Weekend Is Representative of Many Denominations

Almost every Appleton church which is cooperating in entertainment of the state young peoples conference here Friday, Saturday and Sunday still needs the use of a few homes to fulfill its quota of the housing of the delegates. Those who can spare a bedroom or two for either boys or girls are asked to notify Miss Marie Finger, telephone 1892-W, or Mrs. H. K. Pratt, telephone 165-R. Meals are to be provided delegates all during the conference. Those who entertain young people at their homes are asked to provide breakfast only and dinner on Sunday. The remaining meals will be served to girls at Memorial Presbyterian church, and to boys at the First Methodist church. Groups of women will be appointed for each serving.

This gathering of boys and girls is interdenominational and is conducted by Wisconsin Christian Education council, formerly known as Wisconsin Sunday School association. Each church in Wisconsin is asked to send young people to the conference where they may be given inspiration for character and training for christian leadership in their home institutions. Practically all of the Protestant churches of Appleton are giving their support to the conference, especially by housing delegates. Approximately 750 young people are expected here.

ELECTION BOARDS
SPENT WEARY HOURS

"Get Out the Vote" Campaign Makes Tremendous Task of Counting Returns

Among the aftermaths of the election Tuesday were the groggy feelings and heavy heads of nearly 100 Appleton election officials. A record breaking vote cast in all the precincts kept the election judges, inspectors and clerks at work until late in the morning. Some of the boards did not finish work until 8 o'clock in the morning, making a continuous service of 26 hours.

The excessive vote—approximately 7,700 has again raised the question of splitting up the wards into more precincts so as to avoid crowding of the polls in the morning. The first precinct of the First ward alone polled nearly 1,000, while the other registered near the 300 mark. The election officials receive $7.50 a day compensation for their services and after Tuesday night they felt they had more than earned the money.

The telephone at the police station which daily acts as a guide to scores of people who have no clocks or whose clocks fall them was pressed into new service on election day. Many inquiries as to where one should vote were answered. Wednesday morning the telephone was made to spread the news of the election, for everybody wanted to know how Coe Ridge and LeFollette and how Blaine and Lueck ran for office.

Record attendance at a football game was at the opening of Ohio State University's stadium at Columbus two years ago, when 70,000 spectators paid admissions that netted Ohio State and the University of Michigan a profit of $50,000 each.

SCHNEIDER ROMPS BACK TO CAPITAL WITH LARGE VOTE

Appleton Congressman Polls
Lead of 14,000 Over Democratic Candidate

George J. Schneider retained his seat in congress by defeating his Democratic opponent, T. J. Reinert, Antioch, by about 14,000 votes in Tuesday's election. Hardly half of the precincts had reported up to noon Wednesday, but the 126 voting districts of the 256 in the Ninth congressional district gave Schneider 22,605 and Reinert 9,160.

Schneider made a terrific sweep in Outagamie-co., polling 10,473 votes against 3,942 for Reinert. Five precincts still to report are expected to favor this lead.

Schneider carried every precinct in the county and reports at noon indicated he would carry every county in the district, including Langlade-co., Reinert's home.

Reinert made a very poor run in Appleton, polling only about 1,900 votes while Schneider received over 4,500. Schneider ran just as strong in the country districts.

Reinert received up to noon Wednesday forecast the reelection of all Wisconsin Congressmen with the possible exception of Victor L. Berger, Socialist, who had a lead of only three votes over his Republican opponent, E. A. Braun, with 34 precincts trailing.

Reinert had 26,716 and Braun 26,713. The missing precincts are said to be in districts usually giving Republican candidates safe pluralities. The congressmen sure of reelection are:

First district, H. A. Cooper who has been chosen for the fifteenth time; Second district, Edward Volz, Third district, John M. Nelson, who managed Senator LaFollette's campaign; Fourth district, John C. Schaefer; Sixth district, Florian Lampert, Seventh district, Joseph Beck; Eighth district, Edward D. Browne; Ninth district, George J. Schneider, Tenth district, James Frear; Eleventh district, H. H. Peavey. All the congressmen are supporters of LaFollette.

F. R. A. will collect dues at Kassmann-Ferron, 980 W. Col. Ave. Clara Vaughn, Sec.

KELLER IS SPEAKER AT KENOSHA BANQUET

L. Hugo Keller, state commander of the American legion, and H. J. Pot-drew, chairman of the executive committee, have returned from Chippewa Falls where they spoke at a district meeting of officers. The meeting was similar to one held last week in Green Bay. H. L. Plummer of Cadott, director of membership, explained the membership campaign which is to open Nov. 11. This day will be known as "Legion day."

WORK ON HALF HOLIDAYS WHEN MAIL RUNS HEAVY

The first Saturday afternoon delivery by city letter carriers since the half-holiday went into effect last June was made Saturday, Nov. 1. The half-holiday order was to expire on Sept. 15 but was continued until the approach of cold weather and the pre-Christmas - rush. Last Saturday, however, the postoffice experienced an unusually heavy mail on account of the election literature and the regular first of the month bills. The carriers will continue to have the privilege of the Saturday half-holiday until the beginning of the pre-Christmas rush.

SEEK THIEF WHO LEFT STOLEN CAR AT KAUKAUNA

Appleton police are, upon the request of the Green Bay authorities searching for an automobile thief named Finnegan who is alleged to have stolen a car at Green Bay driven to Gilett in it and abandoned it in Kaukauna. Police see a possible connection between this theft and that of another car which was taken from Theodore Ellingson, 688 Appleton, a few nights ago. Finnegan is said to have been released from an asylum recently.

Three County Officers Trample Over Opposition in Tuesday Election

Peter G. Schwartz will move back into the sheriff's quarters in the city jail as the result of the election on Tuesday in which he defeated two independent candidates for the 2-year job. Schwartz piled up a lead of 6,500 over Walter Scherck, his nearest competitor and his vote was almost 5,800 greater than the combined vote of Scherck and Ralph Kamp.

LINCOLN PUPILS CHOOSE COOLIDGE FOR PRESIDENT

Coolidge and LaFollette received 97 and 83 votes respectively, when students of Lincoln school voted Tuesday morning. Davis received no votes at all. The election was the culmination of week's of study on the part of the young people and represented a great amount of investigation and work, for it was their determination to find out why they were voting rather than to just cast ballots carelessly.

All students from the fifth grade and up were allowed to participate. The Republican ticket won in both state and county.

Both candidates received more than 11,000 votes in 39 precincts.

Shing about 8,600 votes ahead of E. D. Cannon and Mr. Koch chalked up about the same lead over Harry Ballard. Both candidates received more than 11,000 votes in 39 precincts.

We Did Not Spring Full-Grown. But Grew

Most of us know the Indian legend of the warrior who boasted that he had sprung full-grown from an oak tree felled by lightning and was struck down by his foe even as he boasted. That warrior had not learned from growth and experience.

We did not spring into being full-grown but started our years of service in so small a way that few could then have foreseen our phenomenal growth. We grew and learned by thoroughly studying the needs of those we serve and how best to satisfy those needs. The open secret of our Nation-wide success is that we are constantly learning.

WAUPACA-GO GIVES LA FOLLETTE AND BLAINE BIG LEADS

Meggers, Stadler and Olen appear to be victors on County Ticket

Waupaca-go gave an exceptional endorsement to Senator R. M. La Follette for president and to John J. Blaine for reelection for governor of Wisconsin according to official returns compiled from about three-fourths of the precincts Wednesday morning.

Twenty-nine out of forty-two precincts polled 4,655 votes for La Follette, 2,454 for Coolidge and 574 for Davis for president. Twenty-five precincts gave Blaine 2,850 votes and Lueck 1,951.

There were three contests for offices in Waupaca-go. George Meurers, Republican, appeared to be the victor over George Millard, Independent, in the race for assemblyman.

From 24 precincts gave Meggers 2,322 votes and Miller 1,117. Martin Paulson, incumbent county treasurer seeking reelection on the independent ticket lost out when he received 2,814 votes in 23 precincts against 3,151 by Leonard J. Olen.

It is not believed the missing returns will make up the votes that were lacking.

Otto L. Olen was piling up a big lead in his race for reelection as county attorney. He gained 3,450 votes from 24 precincts while his opponent, George Classen of Weyauwega, had only 1,049 votes.

NEENAH STANDS BY CAL BUT REFUSES TO RETURN BLAINE

Returns Give Coolidge Lead of 123 Votes Over LaFollette —Lueck Wins

Choice of a Republican for president and a Democrat for governor was registered by the voters of Neenah in the election Tuesday. Coolidge led in three out of five wards and carried the city by a plurality of 123 votes over LaFollette. Judge Martin Lueck defeated Gov. John J. Blaine by 72 votes.

Congressman Lampert, Republican still has Neenah as a stronghold, as is the case in other parts of the Sixth district, since polled 1,778 votes as compared with 824 votes for M. K. Reilly, Democratic aspirant to the house.

In the race for sheriff Steve Gore's vote was a 3 to 1 victory over Henry F. Dowling in the city, the vote standing 1,873 for Gore and 543 for Dowling. The victor is a Republican and Dowling is a Democrat.

INDORSE AMENDMENTS

All three amendments to the state constitution were endorsed heavily by the voters. One favors home rule for cities, another enacts a forestry policy and a third increases the number of circuit courts.

Here is how Neenah voted in the presidential race:

	Coolidge	Davis	LaFollette
First ward	437	38	363
Second ward	357	27	246
Third ward	239	39	182
Fourth ward	85	12	157
Fifth ward	226	34	293
Totals	1364	150	1241

Neenah endorsed a Democratic governor in this way:

	Lueck	Blaine
First ward	428	359
Second ward	304	280
Third ward	267	173
Fourth ward	71	160
Fifth ward	250	276
Totals	1320	1248

Other returns for the city by wards were:

"The Nervous Wreck"

By E. J. Rath
Copyright 1924 by NEA Service Inc.

The prospect of going to jail did not disturb the Wreck. He did not take it very seriously. The main point was getting Sally back to peace and happiness. Whenever they got through with him he would go back to Pittsburgh, where he might forget about things—or might not. But before that everything must be made smooth and smooth for Sally Morgan. Engaged to her? He laughed at himself. Not that there was any mirth in it, but it was a form of self-mockery for which he was in the mood.

The cavalcade was in the woods, where Sally found it easier to follow the trail than she expected.

Presently they came to a splitting of the trail and Sally could not be certain of her course.

Then she came to a second spot where there was a confusion of foot-prints and hoof-prints, and this she knew to be the place where she and the Wreck had discovered their mounts.

In the end, retracing of a wander-ing trail brought them to a place that Sally and the Wreck instantly recognized. It was the camp of the three-man gang. There was little left but soaked embers, but there was no opportunity for mistake.

The sheriff dismounted and examined the place attentively. He listened closely while Sally explained everything, including the affair of Denver and the thunderstorm. She seemed to stress the part the Wreck had played.

The Wreck left the telling all to her. When the sheriff began walking to and fro, studying the deserted camp, the Wreck found himself side by side with Sally. It was their first proximity since they had mounted the horses at the foot of the hill, miles back. He moved uneasily in his saddle.

He glanced at her because it seemed difficult not to do so. Sally smiled encouragingly. But the smile robed him of his wits.

"It's a nice day," he said.

She glanced up at the sky, through the three-tops. It was blue and laughing now.

"Beautiful," she answered.

"Not so warm as yesterday."

"No, not so warm."

He made a nervous gesture that meant, nothing in particular.

"But it is likely to be warmer tomorrow," he blurted.

"Yes," said Sally.

"And it probably won't rain."

"Probably not."

The conversation had exhausted everything he dared to say. But she would not let him alone.

"I think," she said, "that the rest of the summer won't be quite so hot. It gets cooler at night, you know."

"Uh-huh."

"But, of course, we can't tell. We might have a hot wave."

He nodded at her unsuspiciously.

"Still, we might not have it," she added. "It's all luck."

"Yes, luck," he nodded.

Now she laughed outright.

"Henry, please don't be absurd. Scold me for something; jump all over me."

"You're all right," said the Wreck lamely.

"That's not much, but it's better than the weather," said Sally.

He shook his head irritably. He was miserable at heart and he knew he was ridiculous.

The merriment faded from Sally's face; the look in her eyes softened. Poor Wreck.

"Just forget it," she said. "I didn't mean anything."

"Oh, that's all right."

"Thanks, old timer."

From the deserted camp the quarrel, captors and prisoners, rode over to where the flivver had been left. It was ridiculously easy to find it by daylight. When the Wreck saw the car he went into a blind rage.

The flivver was lying on its side in a clump of bushes with two wheels in the air. It was plain enough that Noses's gang had undertaken to turn it around and head it back toward the main road, but the turning room was limited, and the surface was a hillside, and the thing had gone over for want of a skilled hand.

The Wreck climbed down from his horse and walked around his beloved car, furious but saying nothing. Yet so far as he could see, there was nothing radically wrong with the flivver.

"It is very much damaged," Henry asked Sally.

"No," he answered shortly.

"Will it run?"

"Of course."

They were still examining the flivver when two men came down the abandoned road and halted the sheriff. They were the other half of Bob Wells's posse.

"Found thing you got them horses," said one of them to Bob Wells. "We need 'em. Bill and me have been scoutin' around while you was gone and we've hit a hot trail. But there wasn't any use tryin' to follow it on foot. If we're quick we'll nail 'em before sundown."

"I've nailed one of them already," said the sheriff, with a glance at the Wreck.

"Who, him?" The newcomers stared briefly. "Well, maybe. Only he don't belong with this bunch we've got located. We better get started, Bob."

But the sheriff was not ready to start. The news from the dismounted half of his posse put him in a quandary. It was plain enough that what Sally and the Wreck said about the gang was true. He related what he knew about the Wreck and asked for an opinion.

One of the sheriff's assistants was a middle-aged man of solid appearance. He studied the Wreck with abashed eyes.

"Well, I don't know anything about him," he said, "but I know we've got some other folks located that we want bad. And you're mis-

GERMAN PROFITEERS' AUTOS NOW ARE TAXIS

By Associated Press
Berlin—The placing of a heavy luxury tax upon automobiles and the ending of inflation profits with the new currency have combined to give Berlin some of the most elegant and luxurious taxicabs in Europe. These were formerly the private cars of war and inflation profiteers, who were obliged to get rid of them for a mere pittance when the government acted. The original owners paid high prices for them and entered them as business charges to reduce the amount of their income taxes.

GREEN BAY PROS PLAY DULUTH IN LAST HOME TILT

Kellys Defeated Packers and Made Wonderful Showing in Other Games

Green Bay — The eyes of the professional football world will center on Green Bay Sunday afternoon when the Duluth Kellys tackle the Packers at Bellevue park. This game will have an important bearing on the post graduate gridiron championship honors and it is understood that the Cleveland Bulldogs will have a scout here to look over the team.

It will be the last home appearance of the Packers this season. Duluth is the 'surprise' team of the league. They have won four circuit games and are sitting on the top of the heap. Cleveland also has chalked up four victories but Guy Chamberlain's club played one tie game with the Philadelphia Yellowjackets.

BEAT PACKERS 6 TO 3 After tucking away three preliminary games, Duluth kicked over the dope bucket by the opening tilt of the pro league season by taking Green Bay Packers into camp 6 to 3. Then the Kellys played a tie with Ironwood and followed with a 3-0 win over Minneapolis. Another no decision game was on top with Ironwood. The Kenosha Maroons were handed a fine licking, 42 to 0, and last Sunday Minneapolis' crew invaded Minneapolis and scalped the Marines to the tune of 6 to 0 in a sensational argument.

Duluth is coming here with a stronger squad than beat the Big Bay Blues on Sept. 28, as Larry Gilbert, kicker extraordinary, is back in the battle front. When the Packers played Duluth, Gilbert was still seeing service in the Michigan-Ontario league.

CARR AND PINDLE MEET RIVALS IN CUE MATCH

Gene Carr, veteran cue artist of this city, and Harold Pindle Wednesday night will meet Bliss and Phillips in the final block of their 3-cushion handicap in which Carr and Hanson are offering prizes to any pair who succeeds in making 80 billiards to their own 120. Bliss and Phillips recently won the first block when they made 40 points while the experts were making 65, which leaves the last ter with a handicap of 25 points to make up. The match will start at 8:30 P. M. in the Carr and Hanson parlors on Appleton-st.

Mrs. Hurd says "Tommy" won the title for her last fall.

EXPECT BIG GATE WHEN WOLVERINES AND PURPLE MEET

Master Will Match Wits With Pupil When Yost Meets Dunne, Uteritz

Ann Arbor, Mich. — Unusual interest throughout Michigan is centering on the Michigan-Northwestern game to be played here Saturday, and Perry Field stands probably will be filled to capacity to see these closely matched eleven clash.

There are a number of angles on the Wolverine-Purple game that fans are discussing. First is the fact that Northwestern crossed Michigan Aggies' goal twice, while Michigan made just one touchdown against the Farmers.

Then the fact that Ralph Baker, Northwestern's triple-threat back, leads the conference as a point-maker. And the Northwestern squad is rated as the best-produced in Evanston in ten years.

Furthermore, the game will be a case of master versus pupil since Northwestern invades Ann Arbor with two Test-coached men on its own coaching staff in Duke Dunne and Uteritz.

Uteritz, last year's quarterback on the Wolverines and Duke Dunne, star linebacker for Michigan for three years, have been working night and day with the Purple preparing them for the all-important Michigan battle.

Another "pupil versus master" battle will take place at the same time when Captain Herb Steger, of Michigan, will lead the Wolverines against a team coached by his old friend, Glen Tietelshwaite, who taught him the beginnings of football while a student in Oak Park high school. And Uteritz, former team-mate of Steger at Michigan, was also a player under Tietelshwaite in high school days.

Both Uteritz and Dunne made All-Conference teams and Uteritz, in addition, won a berth on the All-Western squad.

It will be a game worth seeing—yet, hope the best on Perry Field this season. Fans who were disappointed in seeing other Michigan home games received cheering news from Ann Arbor Wednesday, when it was announced that several thousand tickets would be on sale at the box office for the game.

958 IS HIGH MARK IN MIXED DOUBLES

W. Neubauer and Mrs. Kolb Sunday afternoon carried off high honors in a mixed doubles bowling tournament on the Neenah alleys when they rolled a total of 958. Second place went to R. Mitchell and Miss C. Blenkner with 947, while Ed. Welsgerber and Miss Nyman rolled 851 for third place. Miss Eva Jensen rolled high score for three games when she toppled 407 pins.

Coffroth Angling For Dempsey-Wills Battle

Tia Juana Turf King Would Stage Long Delayed Match Between Champ and Panther Near Track

New York — James W. Coffroth, king of Tia Juana, is in the white light talking horses, heavies and hopes.

James W. has been told that the football of pugilism—a Dempsey-Wills match—can't be held in New York or New Jersey because of deep-rooted political objections.

James W. says he'd like to take the football out west and kick it for a goal on a lovely spot adjacent to his race track.

It's hard to tell whether James W. is serious or merely talking for publicity. A race track needs publicity. Especially one like James W.'s, which runs for 100 days and offers $58,000 purses.

Coffroth at least has money. If it takes a million to swing the match Coffroth can get it. He went into Tia Juana with a bland smile and a second-hand saddle and ran the two into a nest egg fit for a golden eagle.

Coffroth has the promotional experience, too. He wouldn't sprinkle ashes on the ice cream as the boys did in Shelby, Mont., when Gibbons and Dempsey labored through 15 rounds.

There was a time when Coffroth was as big in pugilism as Tex Rickard is today. Bigger maybe.

Every heavyweight champion, from Jim Corbett on, boxed at his San Francisco club—Fitzsimmons, Jeffries, Johnson, Willard, Dempsey.

Dempsey lost the much-talked-of four-round bout to Willie Meekhan—the Aunt Ephie Hog of the heavies—at Coffroth's club.

All the lightweights, from Kid Lavigne to Leonard, with the single exception of Freddie Welsh, also boxed for him.

The 168-pound, or light heavyweight championship, was created at Coffroth's club. Fitzsimmons defeated George Gardner in 20-rounds and was the first official title-holder in that class.

This fact is disputed by Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, who contends a bout held in 1902 at Fort Erie, between Gardner and Jack Root for the light heavyweight championship, preceded the Fitzsimmons-Gardner bout at Coffroth's.

You may consider this important enough to argue about when you get home to the wife and kiddies tonight.

Coffroth is a reformed newspaper man. Moreover, he was once a baseball magnate. Back in the '90s he owned the Frisco Seals in the Pacific Coast League. Baseball was not too stiff in those days.

James W. gave the club away for a song. It is rumored that the song was not particularly good either.

Later when he tried to buy the club back for $225,000 he was turned down.

"I'm in earnest about pulling off a big fight at Tia Juana," insists James W. "I don't want Dempsey and Gibbons. I can get that match easy. What I want is Dempsey and Wills. I am sure of a million-dollar gate. Shelby drew $500,000 and nobody was certain the fight was even on. Tia Juana can double that without wiggling an ear—or anything else."

HOTEL NORTHERNS WIN FROM STINGLE BAKERS

Hotel Northern Tuesday evening copped two out of three games from Stingle's Bakers in a match rolled on the Olympic alleys here, and took the match by a margin of 153 pins. O. MY WINNING PLAYS BY COACH RICKARD

DELAYED PASS—This is not the same delayed pass used by finger-tapping bidders in bridge and poker. It seldom fails when worked successfully, and is a great substitute for fluff in promoting the growth of time hair.

MASHIE APPROACH—On this play the left guard drops back and the center goes to left end. This is all a lot of childish nonsense and if it has any effect whatever on the LaFollette vote in Wall Street I'll miss my guess.

OVER HAND SMASH—Simply an eye hard knuckles and serve piping hot.

BELOIT IS ONLY SERIOUS RIVAL OF BLUE SQUAD

Elimination of Carroll by Defeat Here Cuts Little Five Field Down

With Carroll practically eliminated from the Little Five conference championship race by its defeat here Saturday, Beloit is regarded as the sole remaining threat to Lawrence hopes, among fans and experts of the state.

The Carroll-Lawrence tilt was the only one scheduled in the conference Saturday and its outcome put the Blue in a three cornered tie with Ripon and Beloit. Northwestern, having lost all of its three games so far, is entirely out of the running.

Lawrence, with an open date on its schedule this week end, is pointing for its meeting with Hamline here on Nov. 15, the second day of the Lawrence homecoming. Although Hamline has a mediocre record this year, the Blues are asking great pains to get set for the clash and to avoid a repetition of the Ripon game two weeks ago.

Tuesday afternoon they went through a light workout at passing and handling the ball. This was ordered by Coach Mark Carlin to eliminate frequent fumbles which marred the Carroll contest and kept the Lawrence score down by at least two touchdowns.

In the third quarter Menasha added an extra point when one of the New London men was tackled behind his own goal line on an attempted pass and early in the fourth a second touchdown gave them a further lead. An accurate placekick put Menasha on top, 15 to 0.

During the last five minutes of play a pass, Bocher to Radtke, gained 25 yards for New London, and Radtke broke through center on the Menasha 25-yard line for a touchdown. The only substitution made by New London during the entire game was Charlesworth for Bocher.

Next Tuesday New London meets East DePere in the final tilt of the season at New London. The game is expected to be the hardest as well as the last on New London's program.

TUNNEY GETS BIG OFFER TO CLASH WITH TOM GIBBONS

American Light Heavyweight Champ Returns to Boxing as Life Work

Milwaukee — Mr. Gene Tunney, American light heavyweight champion, accompanied by Mr. William Gibson of the Bronx, arrived Wednesday from a week's golfing at Miami, Fla. Reports from the sunny south have it that Mr. Tunney is convinced that a golfer he is a great fighter, for it is said that Mr. Gibson returns with a much more nourished B. R. than he had when he entrained ten days ago.

Mr. Tunney and Mr. Gibson stopped over in Memphis en route to Miami to allow Mr. Tunney to knock a few spots off Harry Foley. Mr. Tunney's intake from that fight finally found its way into the jeans of Mr. Gibson after a few rounds, chasing the little white pellet.

Wednesday, however, Mr. will be offered a healthy price to mingle with Mr. Tom Gibbons at the New York American's Christmas and Reller Fund fight to be staged by Tex Rickard at Madison Square garden sometime early in December.

Here is a match that would really be for the world's middleweight title, and one that would pack the historic battle house from cellar to rafters. Gibbons already has accepted, and the writers believes that the inducement about to be offered Tunney will find him ready to snap at the contract in Rickard's pocket.

Mike McGuire may take exception to our saying that this fight would be a world's title affair. Technically Michael may be correct, but either Gibbons or Tunney would have little trouble in polishing him off.

Rickard had hoped to put Gibbons with Jack Renault for the Christmas fund, but Renault has a bad hand and won't be able to fight for many weeks. At least that is the excuse made by Renault's manager, Monr. Leo P. Flynn, in spinning a most flattering offer to fight the man who stuck fifteen rounds with Jack Dempsey.

VanVechten's "Tattooed Countess" Too Overdrawn to Be Real

BY ELEANOR WING
One expects to step into a whimsical world with conventions and corners slightly askew, when he starts to read a book by Carl Van Vechten. And "The Tattooed Countess," published recently by Knopf carries on just the same delightful bantering kind of scenes in kaleidoscopic progression, in the first half of the book, as one expects to find; just such whimsy and beauty as that which makes "Peter Whiffle," and "The Blind Be-Boy" classics of modern literature.

The countess Ella Nattatorrini, returning to the provincial little town of Maple Valley, Iowa, is a charming, sophisticated person when she first enters the picture. One is fascinated with the rest of Maple Valley, at this delicate blue tattooed butterfly on a black skull, with the ironic motto "Que sais de je" printed beneath it. The fact that the tattoo mark is not hidden, but lies definitely on a slender wrist for the gawky world to see causes many a shake of the head and a pursing of the lips in Maple Valley. The countess endears herself to us in many ways, one of which is her human action of picking up a pin for good luck, before stepping off the train.

It is hard for the countess and the Valley to adjust themselves to each other.

Cigarettes and rouge are not compatible with decency in a small Iowa town of 1897. However, Ella Nattatorrini has some of the independence of her flapper descendant. Rouge is necessary to the look of youth, cigarettes calm frayed nerves; therefore they must not be cast aside for silly scruples, says the countess.

And just when we are beginning to thoroughly enjoy the lady, and to laugh with her at the atrocities the town commits in the name of fashion.

Van Vechten spoils everything by saying that "it is impossible for an actress to properly play Juliet until she is too old to look Juliet," and proceeds to try to prove it. The Countess who is over fifty years old, falls in love with Gareth Johns, a high school boy of seventeen. The story becomes sordid; and like "Black Oxen," loses all sense of reality. Gareth is too worldly wise, too canny, and too indifferent to all women. This is not consistent with the fact that seventeen is the romantic age when a boy or girl is flattered by an older person's attentions, not antagonistic to it.

The Countess has only a physical love for Gareth, a love based on her longing for youth. Gareth has no thought of anyone except himself. He is rude to Clara, the would-be prima donna, unkind to his school teacher Lennie Coleman, and utterly shrewd in his dealings with the Countess. In fact, his selfishness in planning how to make use of the love offered him is repulsive as well as impossible in a young boy.

The point where the greatest doubt of the reality of the situation arises is when Gareth, under the influence of Richard, Duke of Gloster, wooing the Lady Ann over the bier of Henry VI. This is a remarkable parallel, but scarcely possible to a boy of 17, who could not have grasped the dramatic significance of Shakespeare's situation well enough to apply it to himself.

Van Vechten is still master, however, of the charming little idiosyncrasies of style which make him so delightful. No quotation marks are seen through out the book, and their absence is characteristic of the author. The split infinitives still exist, flung in with amazing defiance of literary form. And the use of many poignant words, in sequence, or in bunches, or in dignified solitude, is perhaps the greatest virtue of a work which contains so little.

The ending is extremely inartistic, and futile. One is left with the tremendous dissatisfaction of knowing that two people can't possibly live happily together ever after, in spite of the fact that an apparently cruel hearted author has decreed that they go off together, without even the bond of love to keep them contented.

William Lyman Underwood, author of Wild Brother the story of the bear that was nursed by a woman in the Maine woods, began life in the canning business. This started him off on bacteriological investigations, most of which he did, and finally led him to life and higher forms of animal life. Born in Belmont, Mass., he has remained true to his birthplace where he has served as chairman of the local board of health since 1902. His happiest moments, however, are spent out of doors taking snapshots of wild life which he later shows from the lecture platform.

THE JEW IN AMERICAN FICTION

To a limited extent at least the Jew for a long time received about the same treatment in American fiction that the Negro received. That is, writers who knew the Jew from the outside only, imagined him as a type, and whenever a Jew appeared in a novel or story he ran true to type, with little or no regard to the facts of real life. The average non-Jew writer imagined the Jew in his novels as essentially the person of thousand well known anecdotes in which fire sales and other such sharp practices figure. In other words, in the mind of the Gentile novelist the word Jew was synonymous, always and invariably, with acquisitiveness.

Similarly but in a much more pronounced way, the non Negro writer has for a long time been depicting the Negro as a sort of character in a minstrel show—a funny man. The difference between the Jew in American fiction and the Negro is largely measured by the fact that the Negro has been largely inarticulate; until almost the present year he has kept still and has allowed non Negroes to portray him. The Jew, on the other hand, being a race that in ancient times produced one of the greatest literatures in the world, has insisted on telling his own stories and the result has been a number of Jewish writers in America who have been portraying their own people in the relatively new American environment.

ACCENDED TO READERS

Everybody of course has read about or seen Montague Glass's Jews in "Potash and Perlmutter." And while Montague Glass himself is a Jew and knows Jewish psychology as well as the surface characteristics of the Jewish immigrants that swarm the east side in New York one cannot help the feeling that either he or someone else who adapted his material to the stage made large concessions to the popular conception of the Jew and for the sake of getting hands from the Chicago romantics his material and made the Jews of his story more stock figures than realities.

Some short story writers have done excellent work in portraying the Jewish immigrant as he is, but I wish to call attention to a novel by a Jew about the translated Jews in America that is not as well known as it should be. About five or six years ago or perhaps a little longer, Abraham Cahan wrote his novel "The Rise of David Levinsky." The book attracted considerable attention from those who like to read work that is sound and sure, but as is often the case with books of that type, it did not attract the crowd. It never figured among the best sellers. So far as I know, Abraham Cahan has never published a novel since that day although the book would seem to prove that he has the equipment to become a first class novelist. Perhaps he found it necessary to make a living and could not afford to give his time to work that has distinction but that the crowd does not appreciate. Whatever the reason for his not going on, the fact remains that America thereby loses a worthwhile novelist.

DEVELOPED A CHARACTER
"The Rise of David Levinsky" is the story of a Russian Jew immigrant who becomes a big man in business in America. The contrast between the Talmud reading Russian village boy in his primitive surroundings and that same figure many years later in America, a force in business, powerful, wealthy, a captain of industry, is startling. But the metamorphosis has not been an artificial one, as is so often the case in the typical business story. It is an evolution of character as well as a case of business success. And also unlike the typical "success" story, the author is not at all certain that the David Levinsky of the Russian village was not a bigger figure than the powerful David Levinsky in his period of American triumph.

Abraham Cahan, the author of this significant novel, is a Russian Jew himself and consequently he knows what he is talking about. He is a vivid, newspaper writer and scholar and he has for years spoken in that language to his fellow immigrants. In his novel he spoke to an American audience, interpreting his own people to them, but the American audience seems to prefer its familiar, it largely untrue, conception of the Jew.

manuscript of a new book dealing also with the early history of the United States which is called "Lives and Times" and will be issued by Putnam in the early spring. The four characters treated in it are Stephen Jumel, Merchant, William Eaton, Hero Theodosia Burr, Prodigy; and Edmund Charles Genet, Citizen. The book will be illustrated with a series of hitherto unpublished prints.

Bernard De Voto, whose first novel, "The Crooked Mile" (Oxford, Balch & Co.) is now in its third printing, is a Westerner. He contrasts his experience as a novelist with his early training in broncho busting. "Writing a book is somewhat more pleasurable than breaking a mustang. I speak with some feeling, having recently attempted both hazards. But I doubt that it is more susceptible to forecast. Broncho busting has no definite superiority. After the first trial, one may have a definite further experience and remain a critical onlooker. But when one has published a book, there is no stay short of death. The unfortunate passages must be atoned for. One must always write another book in which there will be no lapses, and another and another, till finally one or the commissioner of Public

Author Tells Of Intimate Life In Book

ARTHUR MACHEN

"Let us remember that the most amazing things are latent in the commonest, everyday ordinary circumstances. These amazing things are the only realities that matter. Strangeness which is the essence of beauty is also the essence of truth, and the essence of life."

Such is the philosophy of so-called "commonplace things" with which Arthur Machen tackles his little ramble, "The London Adventure" (Knopf).

But there is as much autobiography of Machen in and between the lines as there are sidelights of London. Also there are close-up views of Machen's self-struggle during his latter experience as a British journalist. There are bits slightly reminiscent of Lewisohn's "Up Stream" experiences. Also Machen digs up an aged note book and with it throws added light upon himself and people and things encountered.

In a sense this seems to be a companion volume to "Far Off Things" and "Things Near and Far." But it is more of a ramble in reminiscence. To one who may not have read Machen before picking up this little volume there may come a shock of getting too well acquainted upon first introduction.

For some of Machen's most sensitive moments are here revealed; and this same sensitivity and striving for beauty is shown in his writing style—as excellent as ever.

Plumber Thought He Needed New Pipes

"My stomach and intestines were always full of gas and I often had severe colic attacks. The pain and soreness caused me to think I needed a new set of pipes. Since taking Mayr's Wonderful Remedy all this has disappeared and my only trouble now is to make enough dough to buy all the food I'd like to eat." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One does well convince or money refunded. At all druggists. adv.
